

Every shift, your kitchen already does the work, logs it. CartaGrid locks in your logs automatically, every time.

No new habits to learn. No extra admin at the end of a long shift. Just records that are actually there, exactly as logged, the moment anyone needs them.

A temperature check where does it actually go?

The one job every kitchen does, every single day.

THE OLD WAY

- ✗ Paper log on a clipboard by the fridge
- ✗ Handwriting rushed hard to read back
- ✗ Filed away nobody quite remembers where
- ✗ Three months later, someone asks for it
- ✗ An hour spent searching. Maybe found. Maybe not.

WITH CARTAGRID

- ✓ Chef logs it on their phone 30 seconds
- ✓ Reading saved with date, time, and their name
- ✓ Record number generated automatically
- ✓ Three months later found in 10 seconds

Your log is your proof you did the check properly - kept exactly as you logged it, safely

SCENARIO 2

Something goes wrong who logged what, and when?

The conversation nobody wants to have twice.

THE OLD WAY

- ✗ A mistake happens during service
- ✗ Nobody remembers who did what
- ✗ Staff member says it wasn't them
- ✗ Manager has no way to actually check
- ✗ Whoever shouts loudest gets believed

WITH CARTAGRID

- ✓ Every log is timestamped and attributed
- ✓ "GSI-2026-0041 logged by Maria, 09:14"
- ✓ Nobody can be wrongly blamed
- ✓ The record speaks for itself fairly

Your log isn't surveillance. It's proof you did things right - and protection when it matters.

EVERY MORNING AT 07:00

You didn't ask for it. It's just there.

A summary of yesterday's shift, sorted before doors open.

- 07:00 CartaGrid pulls together yesterday's shift - every check, every delivery, every log
- 07:01 Summary lands in the manager's inbox automatically
- 07:15 A quick look before doors open gaps caught early, not late
- 08:00 Service starts. Yesterday is already sorted. No chasing, no searching.

LOGGING IN PRACTICE

Thirty seconds. That's the whole job.

No training session. No manual. Just three taps.

- 1 Something happens - a delivery, a clean, someone unwell
- 2 Open the app one tap, any phone or tablet
- 3 Pick what you're logging - big buttons, plain language
- 4 Fill in three things: what, when, who. Done.
- 5 Record saved automatically - locked to you, safely kept

Built by a working kitchen

13 years running a kitchen — service, suppliers, staff, all of it. Built by someone who's lived the shift.

Every record locked instantly

Nobody can quietly change a log after it's made. Not a manager, not a chef, not the system.

30 seconds. No training.

If your busiest chef can't figure it out in half a minute, we haven't done our job.

Trusted by a council

In active trial with Wakefield Council proof this holds up to real scrutiny.
